

Year 1 Ideas for Home Learning

Good morning, boys and girls.

I hope you all managed to get a good night's sleep and that you are staying cool and comfortable during this very hot weather. I know many of you will be missing being in school with your friends, so I have put together a few activities that you can choose from over the next couple of days if you would like something to do.

Please remember that these are optional activities. The most important thing is that you stay safe, look after yourselves and enjoy spending time with your family.

Writing

Can you keep a diary for the two days that we are not in school? Tell me about what you have been doing to keep busy and stay cool. Remember all the fantastic things we have worked on this year, including neat handwriting, finger spaces, capital letters and full stops. You could also challenge yourself to use some interesting adjectives and verbs in your writing. If you would like to, add a picture to match your diary and show off your wonderful colouring and pencil control skills.

Maths

Can you find objects around your home and group them into sets of 2, 5 and 10? Practise counting in these amounts to find the total. You could also use 20 objects to help you practise your number bonds to 20.

Science

Think back to our learning about the seasons and how to stay safe in the sun. Can you create a bright and colourful poster that teaches people how to stay safe during hot weather and throughout the summer months?

PSHE

We have spent lots of time thinking about what makes a good friend and a kind person. Can you make a list of ways that you have helped your friends or family during these hot days? Perhaps you have shared, shown kindness, helped someone, or checked that others were okay.

Computing

If you have access to a tablet and can download ScratchJr, have a go at creating a scene linked to something we have learned this year. Can you explain to someone at home what you created and how you made your sprites move?

Most importantly, remember to look after yourselves. Drink plenty of water throughout the day, spend time in the shade, and take regular breaks to rest and cool down. It is perfectly okay to slow down when the weather is this hot. Make time to relax, read a book, draw a picture, play a game with your family or simply enjoy some quiet time.

I am very proud of how hard you have all worked this year and I hope you enjoy these couple of days at home. Stay safe, keep smiling and take good care of yourselves and your families.

See you all very soon.

Mr G
